ENGINEERS VOTE TO CALL STRIKE.

In Case Negotiations for Increased Pay Fail.

Majority of More Than 23,000 Out of 25,000 in Favor.

NEW YORK, April 12.—By a majority of more than 23,000 out of 25,000 votes cast, locomotive engineers on 50 railroads east of Chicago and north of the Norfolk & Western have authorized their officers to call a strike should further negotiations with the railroads for increased pay fail. The count of the vote was completed at noon today and the result made known by Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, to J. S. Stuart, chairman of the General Managers' Association of the railroads.

The general managers have called a meeting to be held here April 15 to consider the result of the vote. The engineers' officers have notified Mr. Stuart that they would remain here for "a reasonable time" to await a counter proposition of the railroads. The original demands of the engineers for increases in pay aggregating 15 per cent were recently rejected by the railroads.

Mr. Stone announced that 93.1 per cent of the engineers had voted to authorize the calling of a strike. In his letter to Mr. Stuart, Mr. Stone asks if the railroads have any counter proposition to make and notified him that if no counter proposition is received a strike of the engineers on each of the 50 roads is subject to call at any time.

In addition to the 25,000 members of the Brotherhood, Mr. Stone said, approximately 15,000 members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen had also voted on the proposition. Their vote, he said, was also overwhelmingly in favor of authorizing a strike should further negotiations with the railroads fail. This vote, Mr. Stone said, was not considered in reaching the percentage of 93.1 obtained in the engineers' vote. Their votes, he added, were counted separately.

Mr. Stone declared that he did not wish to comment upon the results. "It speaks for itself," he said. "The next move is up to the railroads."

"If the railroads do not make a counter proposition will you call a strike?" he was asked.

"That is not a fair question at this time," he replied. "I cannot answer it now."

As soon as the result was reached Mr. Stone wrote a letter to Mr. Stuart, dispatching it to him by special messenger.

While no formal vote was taken on the matter the engineers will probably remain here until April 16, awaiting further word from the railroads.

A representative of the General Managers' Association said today that no formal call has as yet been issued for the meeting which is reported to be scheduled for April 15, and that a meeting might be held either prior or subsequent to that date. Mr. Stuart had nothing to say concerning the result of the vote further than that he would place it before his colleagues.

CLARA BARTON DEAD.

Red Cross Society Founder a Victim of Chronic Pneumonia.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Miss Clara Barton, founder of the American Red Cross Society, died at her home in Glen Echo, Md., at 9 o'clock this morning. The cause of her death was chronic pneumonia, with which she was stricken about a year ago. Her brother, Stephen Barton, of Boston, was with her when she died. Miss Barton was born at Oxford, Mass., in 1821.

MISS CLARA BARTON.

Miss Barton had been confined to her home "Red Cross," at Glen Echo, since last fall, when she returned from a visit to New England. It was thought her trip was beneficial, but soon afterward she was taken seriously ill. She celebrated her ninetieth birthday anniversary December 25, when she received many messages of congratulation from all parts of the world.

THE SHUTTLECOCK UTILITIES BILL.

Passed by the House Without Senate Amendment.

Looks Like Two More Weeks Before the Adjournment.

[Special despatch to The News.]

PROVIDENCE, April 12.—The public utilities bill begins to resemble a shuttlecock. Last week the house passed it and there was a loud protest against the free pass clause. This week the senate passed the act without the objectionable clause and with two or three amendments. It went to the house and that body passed the bill, but without the amendment which would give the commission a right to override city and town councils, to which there has been serious objection by the City of Providence. The bill was at once sent to the senate and there was referred to the judiciary committee. It is expected to come back and be passed as it stands, without further fight.

The Senate had a big fight over the bill placing bridges on the state highway system in charge of the commission, but it was finally passed. Three bridges are eliminated from this, the Red and Washington in Providence and the Stone Bridge between Tiverton and Portsmouth. An appropriation of $200,000 went with this act and another act carried $250,000 for highway work.

It looks now like two more weeks for the Assembly before the final adjournment.

In the senate the committees made a general unloading of their dockets and a large amount of matter was transferred to the calendar. Among the more important bills reported was that making it encumbent upon cities or towns where dogs bite people to pay for modern medical treatment, an act permitting the town treasurer of Block Island to sell the real estate of the Free Will Baptist Church in that town, an act authorizing Woonsocket to make an annual appropriation of $300 for the use of the veterans of the Spanish War in observing Memorial day, an act amending the charter of the Island Cemetery Corporation of Newport, and an act providing for the relief of the soldiers and sailors in the war with Spain.

From the calendar were taken the act placing the bridges in charge of the highway commission and one making a generous appropriation for road work. The latter is in addition to the $5500,000 bond issue. Both bills passed.

In the house there was also an unloading of committee files, placing a large amount of matter on the calendar. Of those bills those of greater importance were one authorizing the city of Newport to issue $20,000 worth of bonds for the improvement of Easton's Beach, and an act granting to Warren the privileges of using the secret ballot.

Among the important matters passed was the public utilities bill, an act giving additional powers to the Southern New England Railway and an appropriation for a portrait of ex-Speaker Bliss for the State House.

ITS LAST RESTING PLACE.

Major Kearney's Body Removed to National Cemetery at Arlington.

NEW YORK, April 12.—The body of Major General Phil Kearney, which has lain for half a century in Trinity churchyard, was placed on board a Pennsylvania railroad train at Jersey City today for Washington, en route to its last resting place in the National Cemetery at Arlington. It is due to reach Washington at 1 o'clock.

The flag-draped coffin was taken early in the forenoon from the rotunda of the city hall, where it lay in state since yesterday guarded by a dozen grand army veterans, on a caisson through the streets to the ferry, under the escort of a battalion of infantry and a handful of the survivers of the dead general's command.

WORK OF CHAUFFEURS.

A Bomb Explodes Inside a Taxicab in the Rue de Lyon.

PARIS, April 12.—A bomb exploded inside a taxi automobile in the Rue de Lyon this morning. The force of the explosion shook the greater part of the city and wrecked the motor car. The chauffeur and some pedestrians were injured. The outrage is believed to have been committed by chauffeurs, many of whom have been on strike for over two months. The taxicab was passing along the Rue de Lyon from the Place de La Bastille to the great railroad depot of the Lyons line. Many windows in the vicinity were smashed.

HITCHCOCK HIS BONDSMAN.

Frederick O. Beach to Appear in Aiken at September Term of Court.

AIKEN, S. C., April 12.—Frederick O. Beach the New York millionaire, for whom a warrant had been issued here on the charge of cutting his wife's throat several weeks ago, will not be compelled to hurry back from his trip to Europe to stand trial. Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., has furnished bonds of $1,000 for Beach's appearance at the September term of court. The bond has been accepted and this practically ends the case until that time. It is stated he but Beach, who now is in Paris, with his wife, probably will remain abroad until the latter part of August.

DEATH OF GENERAL FREDERICK GRANT.

Head of Department of East Expires in New York.

His Sudden Demise Said to be Due to Heart Failure.

NEW YORK, April 12.—General Frederick Dent Grant, commander of the Department of the East and son of the famous Civil War general, died suddenly soon after midnight at the Hotel Buckingham, where he had been secretly taken Wednesday evening by his physicians. His presence in this city was not known until the news that he had been suddenly stricken was flushed to newspaper offices by the police. A policeman stationed near the hotel had called an ambulance at the request of an employe, who told him that General Grant was choking to death.

Although there had been rumors of General Grant's illness and reports that he would never again take up his duties on Governor's Island, today's news came as a distinct shock to the public. According to Dr. Robert Abbe and Dr. Edward R. Dench, his physicians, the death of the general was caused by heart failure. He had been suffering for some time, they asserted in an official statement, from "diabetes and attendant digestive disturbances."

Recent reports that General Grant had been in a private pavilion in St. Luke's Hospital in this city, suffering from a cancerous growth under the tongue, the same affection which caused the death of his distinguished father, were denied today by the hospital authorities. Dr. Abbe who has been the general's family physician for many years, refused to discuss the subject.

Mrs. Grant was with her husband when he died. A nurse was the only other person with her.

The first intimation that General Grant's condition had suddenly become serious was given when Mrs. Grant telephoned to the hotel clerk about 11:45 o'clock. "The general is dying" she said, hysterically. "Get a doctor quickly." She said he had been seized by a choking spell.

The clerk made an effort to call Dr. Abbe on the telephone. Failing in this, he sent a nellboy to the physician's home, near by. The haste of the boy caused Policeman Malloy to inquire what the trouble was.

"General Grant is choking to death. Get a doctor," was the boy's response.

Malloy turned in an ambulance call, but before the hospital surgeon reached the hotel both Drs. Abbe and Dench had been located and were at the bedside. The ambulance surgeon and the policeman who went to the apartments were told that there was formed Coroner Holzhauser that he former Coroner Hizabanser that he would file a death certificate promptly and that no inquest would be necessary.

A score of newspaper men reached the Buckingham shortly after 12 o'clock in response to the police flash that General Grant was dying. At first efforts were made by the attendants to deny that General Grant was at the hotel, although he was already dead at the time. The management was finally persuaded to communicate with the physicians who announced that General Grant had died before their arrival. Drs. Abbe and Dench later sent down to the hotel management a statement in which they said:

"General Grant died suddenly of heart failure, without premonition, at midnight. He had retired at 11 o'clock, apparently in better condition than for several weeks. Since his recent trip his physical condition had given no special anxiety to his physician. General Grant had been suffering from diabetes and the attendant digestive disturbances which seemed, however, to be perfectly under control. This sudden fatal termination came as a great surprise."

Lieutenant Marion Howze, personal aide to the general, announced this morning that Mrs. Grant was bearing the shock with unusual fortitude. She directed that messages be sent to General Grant's son, Captain Ulysses S. Grant 3d, of the engineering corps, in Washington, and to his daughter, the Princess Cantacuzene, as well as to other relatives.

For more than a month past General Grant's whereabouts has been a mystery. Following the announcement that he had been granted a four months' leave of absence, expiring June 1, reports were current that an illness believed by many to be cancer of the throat had caused his temporary retirement. These were repeatedly denied at Governor's Island where it was stated that General Grant had simply gone South for a rest. Despatches from Tampa, Fla., last week stated that he was at the winter home of Mrs. Potter Palmer of Chicago, a sister of Mrs. Grant. The report that General Grant was in St. Luke's Hospital in this city for operative treatment became public Wednesday and while not officially confirmed was widely credited.

The management of the Buckingham, a quiet little hotel on Fifth avenue, stated this morning that he had been told that General Grant had come directly to the hotel in an automobile from St. Luke's. The patient was apparently at that time in good health and spirits and walked from the automobile to the elevator unassisted.

CAPTAIN GRANT OVERCOME.

Only Son of the General Leaves Washington on Receiving the News.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Captain U. S. Grant, 3d, the only son of the late General Fred D. Grant, did not learn of his father's sudden death in New York until an early hour today. He was overcome by the news and took the first available train for New York.

No one here was in a position to make an authoritative statement as to the funeral ceremonies nor was it known whether the body will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery. It was suggested that the body might be interred in the tomb where his illustrious father lies in the great memorial in Riverside Park, New York city. Having been at the time of his death an officer of the highest rank on the

A FIGHT AND A SPLIT.

Taft and Roosevelt Both Elect Delegates in Michigan.

BAY CITY, Mich., April 11.—The Republican state convention, held here today under a militia guard, developed into a bitter fight and culminated in the election of two sets of delegates-at-large, whose seating the Taft and Roosevelt leaders will contest on the floor of the national convention at Chicago. The battle was waged for 24 hours, and at the end of that period it was found that each faction stood where it had stood in the beginning, firm against any sort of compromise. The two sets of leaders and delegates, Taft and Roosevelt, fought out their issues to a point where state militia, police and sergeants-at-arms were needed to maintain a semblance of orderly procedure.

Taft leaders said the seating of the six delegates-at-large would make no difference in the Michigan state delegation, in that the various district conventions outside the state convention had named more than enough delegates to make certain the vote of Michigan for Taft.

The battle raged with a bitterness scarcely ever before experienced in this state, the birthplace of the Republican party. At the crisis the Roosevelt men walked out of the armory where the convention was held and the Taft men proceeded to elect delegates as follows: John D. McKay, Detroit; W. J. Richards, Crystal Falls; George B. Morley, Saginaw; F. R. Diggins, Cadillac; Eugene Fifield, Bay City, and William Jackson, Grand Rapids.

The Roosevelt delegates named before the convention broke up were: Governor Chase S. Osborn, Charles Nichols, Detroit; Sybrant Wesselius, Grand Rapids; H. F. Boughey, Traverse City; Theodore Joslin, Adrian W. D. Gordon, Midland.

After today's sensational fight on the floor of the convention, during which ex-Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana left the armory, the closing incidents in the convention were comparatively tame. Perfunctory resolutions were adopted and speeches were delivered by state leaders favorable to President Taft.

THE JOLLY HARLEQUIN.

Origin of This Popular Character Dates Back to Dim Ages of of the Twelfth Century.

[London Globe.]

Once upon a time Harlequin was a very popular character, known through Europe. He was a jolly buffoon; a fantastic figure, in wonderful skintight garments shining with every color in the rainbow. In plays, farces or pantomimes he played a leading part. Alert, buoyant and gay, with his batlike sword of lath ever raised and bent to form a bow between his supple hands, he danced across innumerable stages, a figure of fun and fate.

To the younger generation of our own time Harlequin has become a very shadowy figure. Little is known or cared about his interesting history, his varied career in many countries and many tongues. Yet time was when Harlequin and his merry companions formed the "body" of pantomime; they were the attraction, and round their delightful antics the fragile framework of the pantomime proper was built. We have changed all that today and Harlequin appears only for a few hurried minutes at the fag of the evening—or not at all.

The origin of Harlequin dates back to the dim ages of the twelfth century. An old French "Harlequin," sometimes spelt Herlekin, or Hellequin is found in folk literature as early as 1100, when he had already become proverbial as a ragamuffin of demoniacal appearance and character. The etymology of the word itself is curious. The modern French is "Arlequin," from which apparently is derived the Italian "Arlecchino." An old French phrase dealing with Harlequin became quite a "saying" in the middle ages—"li maisnie Herlekin," meaning a troop of demon horsemen that haunted lonely places, riding wildly by night. And of this phrase the ultimate origin is probably Teutonic. From the appellation "troop of demon horsemen" Harlequin was afterward known as Kindred of Hell or Host of Hell. The change from Hellequin to Harlequin was due, so history asserts, to a mistaken analogy with Charles Quint.

Having made a great name in France, Harlequin became the rage in Italy, making such a lasting impression on the medieval and renaissance comedy of Italy that on his return to France it was generally imagined that he was an Italian product. From the Italian he returned to the French stage, being imported by Marivaux into light comedy.

His various and popular attributes became amalgamated into the latter form they have since taken in pantomime in which type of entertainment alone, Harlequin is known to the modern play goer. Geneste gives the year 1723 as the commencement of pantomime in England, with "Harlequin Dr. Faustus" at Drury Lane. This show that on his first arrival Harlequin was much more important than he is today.

On the continent Harlequin was entrusted with heavy speaking parts, but in this country he has always been mute, acting his many villainies and conducting mischievous intrigues in dumb show. In older English pantomimes he played a serious as well as merely a comic part, and Columbine (originally his daughter) became a village maiden whose lover (Clown) was pursued by the constables, prototypes of the modern policeman, so prominent a figure in every Harlequinade.

STYLE IN WRITING.

[Thomas L. Masson in Lippincott's.]

The process of writing consists in laying a track of words, along which the author conducts the reader with more or less success. If the words are put together neatly and skillfully, the reader glides along without jolt or jar; and if the elevations and depressions are arranged with care, so that monotony may be avoided, the pleasure of the trip is still further increased.

Many writers revel in "apt alliteration's artful aid" and take an unfair advantage of the reader by conscious syllabication promiscuously and pertinaciously pandering, with reckless redundancy, to surfeited senses.

Others adopt a rugged, uneven, jolting methods, placing their words in rigid, jagged, staccato rows, hurling their meaning at you in irritating crests bearing hard edges which jar your ear and rasp your consciousness discordantly, rubbing you crosswise. They [illegible] at you. And others still with stately pomp, firmly wedded to well-ordered periods, march with rhythmic step along their formal path. No frivolity [illegible] them, no joyous and inconsequential lightness disturbs them, no [illegible] mars their posture, but with dignified carriage, their banners flying in the sun, they journey onward, the distant horizon reverberating to their triumphal progress.

Then we have the mincing, delicately constructive writer, who deals in mosaics. A feminine little air of precision is his pervading essence. Capering nimbly to the dulcet phrase, he never descends below his shrill treble but scatters his nice little refinements about him like a lace-adorned bride.

In the meantime, the unhappy reader asks for nothing better than not to know that the writer has a style. This does not mean that the style is unimportant; it means only that the reader is primarily interested in what the writer has to show him, and the writer's style may be considered perfect when it never obtrudes itself on the reader's attention. It is on the same principle that the best dressed man is the man whose clothes you never notice.

MIDDLETOWN.

Whist, Collation and Dancing Make a Pleasant Evening for The Aquidneck Grange.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

One of the most pleasant social affairs it has ever given took place Thursday evening, when Aquidneck Grange held its regular meeting at the town hall. A number of applications were received for membership these continuing to come in at each meeting. Worthy Lecturer William S. Slocum desired each member to be ready at the next meeting to say what changes he would like to see brought about. There will also be a talk on the best varieties of strawberries to raise.

At the conclusion of the business session the lecturer placed the evening in the hands of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hubbell and the hall was arranged for progressive whist. Ten tables were played, with the following award of prizes: First women's, Mrs. Elton W. Peckham, a silver hat pin; second, Miss Ardella Peckham, an Abalon shell pin in silver; first man's, Mr. Percy Sherman of Portsmouth Grange, a watch fob; second, Mr. Charles F. Harrington, a silver shoe horn in a case. A small party was formed for those who did not care for whist, these members playing "Flitch." Following the games there was dancing, Miss Gladys Kaull at the piano.

The feast committee—Mrs. B. W. H. Peckham, chairman; Mrs. Irving A. Corey and Miss Lydia Peabody—served sandwiches, cake and coffee in the side rooms during the dancing. The gathering broke up at a late hour. Guests were present from Portsmouth, and a number from Newport.

Mrs. Charles H. Ward left Thursday for Providence, where she will visit her daughter, Mrs. Joseph E. Farnam.

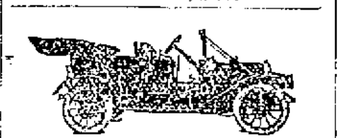

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Hughes and a few friends gave Mrs. Hughes's mother, Mrs. Sumner Clarke, who is visiting her from Skowhegan, Maine, a birthday surprise Thursday, in the form of a dinner and theatre party in Fall River.

Mr. William W. Anderson, one of the speakers at the educational meeting Saturday, and assistant state commissioner of schools, will be ready to answer questions concerning school matters. His special talk will be on language. An invitation has been extended Newport and Portsmouth teachers to be present.

Mrs. Reuben Wallace Peckham, regent of Colonel William Barton Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will leave for New York tonight, for a ten days' trip in Washington, to attend the national convention.

Crawford Ranges

A suggestion to cooks;—ask somebody who has used a Crawford range—and you will very easily find such a person—what the patented Single Damper of the Crawford means as a help in cooking. All other ranges have two—or more—dampers; hence damper mistakes.

Also, the scientific Cup-Joint curved heat flues that heat the oven in every part alike; the Ash Hod that takes the place of the clumsy ash pan; the Patented Grates; the powerful waterfronts and other time, trouble and money saving improvements peculiar to Crawfords; ask about these. If you will do this we believe your next range will be a Crawford.

SPECIAL SALE OF HOUSE DRESSES

—FOR—

SATURDAY.

On Saturday we will hold a special money-saving sale of wash dresses for house wear. If you have attended our previous sales of dresses you know what bargains we have been giving at these sales.

This sale will be on a larger scale than any we have before attempted. The variety of styles and great assortment of patterns and colors will cover all your wants in house dresses. The styles include high neck, square neck and round collar numbers in stripes, figures and checks, together with plain chambray dresses. Light ground dresses in pink, blue and black and white, dark dresses in plain colors, seersucker stripes and navy blue figures.

The materials alone in these dresses are worth more than the price of the finished dresses.

On SATURDAY ONLY they will be on sale at 69c each.

Sizes from 34 to 44.

We will show a few of the styles taken from this lot in our window today, but none will be sold until Saturday.

Telephone orders filled after 12 o'clock Saturday.

This sale will be the House Dress event of the season.

STORY OF THE SOUTH SEAS.

"A Person of Some Importance," by Lloyd Osborne, Who Collaborated With Stevenson.

"A Person of Some Importance" is the best story Lloyd Osborne has written since the days when R. L. Stevenson and he wrote "The Wrecker" and "The Ebb Tide." It is a tale of the South Seas, although only a few of the chapters deal with those mysterious waters, for the scene shifts quickly from Annapolis to the tropics and then to a New England village, where most of the incidents occur. Plenty of spirit and action mark the progress of the story, while there is enough mystery and adventure to interest the most hardened novel reader.

The story has to do with the career of one Matthew Broughton, who is not the "person of some importance," That person is in the background and little is known of him until the end, yet all Matt's troubles are due to his existence. Young Broughton starts as a naval cadet, drifts into the South Seas and finally appears in a New England village with all kinds of rumors attending him. Gossip has it that he is king of the Kanakas and immensely wealthy. The experiences of the young man in his native town are peculiar and unpleasant until the mystery is explained.

Christine Marshall is a girl of marked individuality. She is plucky and courageous, with a leaning towards adventure in her make-up. Undaunted by obstacles, in her whimsical way she inspires Matt with a courage as great as her own. Their adventures vary from humorous and bizarre to ominous and threatening perils. Their last experience is the most astonishing of all and ends in an entirely satisfactory manner, with one exception ad that exception has to do with John Mort, the person of some importance.

The illustrations are by A. B. Yenzell and the book is published by the Bobbs-Merrill Company.

TO REVISE RETIREMENTS.

Senate Bill Would Give President Discretion Over Navy "Plucking Board's" List.

Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire, proposes in a bill introduced in the Senate to amend the law governing the operation of the naval "plucking board" to require the board to submit to the President a list of officers to be retired which shall contain five names more than the number of probable vacancies. This list shall be submitted to the President by May 1 and he is to order by June 30 the transfers to fill vacancies. Not more than five captains, four commanders, four lieutenant commanders and two lieutenants (junior grade) are to be retired in any one year.

Under the present law the plucking board meets June 30 and selects for retirement the above mentioned number of officers of each grade. The President is then required to order their retirement. Under the Gallinger bill he is allowed certain discretion to make selections from the list submitted to him.

INVESTIGATING AN INVESTIGATION.

[New York Tribune.]

Representative Lindbergh, the original "money trust" hunter, has succeeded in making a contribution to the art of investigation by proposing an inquiry into the financial connections of all the members of the House of Representatives, whose committee is intrusted with the duty of pursuing the financial octopus. Each member of the House is to be required, if Mr. Lindbergh has his way, to file a full statement of his financial affairs, disclosing his corporate holdings and his banking interests. And not only is he to tell everything about his own investments, he must give full information about the corporate and banking interests of the members of his family. A man is not going to be a representative of the "money trust" in his wife's name, not if Mr. Lindbergh can help it.

And this is, of course, to find out if the wicked trust does not control the House of Representatives and thus the "money trust" investigating committee. The idea is impressive. The Democratic House has investigated almost everything under the sun and found nothing. Let it investigate itself. In accordance with Mr. Lindbergh's plans, and perhaps it will be more successful. In this crookedest of all possible worlds the only way to be sure to find is first to investigate your investigation.

TENNESSEE'S NEW SENATOR.

[New York Tribune.]

The re-entry into the United States Senate of a Republican Senator from Tennessee is a striking political incident, since no member of that party has represented Tennessee in the upper branch of Congress since William G. Brownlow's term expired in 1875. Nearly every other Southern state has had a Republican Senator or Senators in office since that date. Ever since reconstruction days Virginia, North Carolina, Kentucky and Missouri have elected Republicans, so that Tennessee has been unique among the states of the upper South in keeping its representatives in the Senate unanimously Democratic for nearly 37 years, doing so in spite of the fact that it has never legally disfranchised its negro and has always had within its borders a large and active body of native Republicans.

Two of the strongest Republican Congress districts in the country are in Tennessee, and the state has often been closely contested in local elections. The Republicans in recent years have elected two governors and another candidate, Henry Clay Evans, was ousted out by the legislature in favor of Peter Turley. The present governor is a Republican, has given a state an efficient administration, and will be a candidate for re-election this fall. Undoubtedly he has strengthened himself in public regard by appointing as Senator a Republican of the type of Newell Sanders, for whom the voters of both parties have a well-founded respect.

EDWARD M. BRANDT.

Death of the New York Herald's Yachting Expert, Well Known In This City.

Mr. Edward Moore Brandt, who for 40 years was identified with the staff of the New York Herald and was recognized as the foremost authority in this country on yachting and sporting affairs, died suddenly at his home in New York Thursday evening. He was at his desk in the sporting department of the Herald at his usual hour Thursday. He did not complain of feeling ill but on the contrary enthusiastically discussed several matters in relation to yachting affairs. Immediately upon returning home he was seized with an affection of the heart and died in a few minutes. He was 65 years old.

Mr. Brandt was well known in Newport, having represented the New York Herald on the annual cruises of the New York Yacht Club for many years. He was a familiar figure here when the fleet was in or when any race of importance was sailed off this port.

WHERE EVERY ONE LOVES GARDENS.

[Eliza Ruhamah Scidmore, in the Century.]

In Japan every one loves gardens, knows gardens and makes gardens. The children amuse themselves with toy gardens instead of mud pies, and model relief maps in the sands of school playgrounds. In the recent wars the soldiers, after long marches, amused themselves by making little home landscapes before their tents. In more remote ties emperors and shoguns abdicated and joined or established monasteries in Kioto, that they might the better meditate upon the eternal truths, and enjoy gardens of their own designing. Priests, nobles and court ladies all observed the conventions and practised the rules of landscape art.

Of the making of gardens and illustrated garden books there was literally no end in the leisured centuries before the restoration.

PERSONALS.

....Ira Remsen, of John Hopkins University has tendered his resignation as president, an office he has held nearly a dozen years. The resignation will be accepted, but it is expected that Mr. Remsen will remain professor of chemistry, which he has been since the establishment of the chair.

....Dr. Mary C. Walker has so far recovered from her serious three weeks illness that she was able this week to don her frock coat and top hat and leave New York for her home at Oswego, N. Y. Although her life was despaired of for a time, she rallied remarkably by sheer force of will, and is now apparently well on the road to recovery.

....The weight of 550 pounds attained by Abraham Zodekson of Boston, caused his death, from fatty degeneration of the heart, on the twenty-sixth anniversary of his birth. Four weeks ago, when taken ill, Zodekson weighed 434 pounds. During his sickness it is estimated that he gained in weight at the rate of 20 pounds a day.

....Edmund Coggeswell Converse of New York, president of the Bankers' Trust Company and also of the Astor Trust Company, has given Harvard University $125,000 to endow a professorship of banking in the Graduate School of Business Administration, one of the newest of the Harvard graduate departments. Mr. Converse, who is a native of Boston, is descended from an old New England family and many of his ancestors were graduates of Harvard. He did not attend the college himself.

....The Blue Hill observatory, on the summit of Great Blue hill, in the Blue Hills reservation of the Metropolitan park commission, Boston, is to become the property of Harvard University, by the will of Abbott Lawrence Rotch, founder of the observatory and professor of meteorology at Harvard, the observatory and buildings associated with it, with all the equipment go to the university. Mr. Rotch also bequeathed the sum of $50,000 to Harvard to be held in trust for the purpose of maintaining the observatory, where many important discoveries in relation to phenomena of the air have been made as a result of exhaustive experiments.

ONCE IN A WHILE.

And the arching skies are a perfect [Nixon Waterman.]

Once in a while the sun shines out, blue;
Once in a while, mid clouds of doubt,
Hope's brightest stars come peeping through.
Our paths lead down by the meadows fair,
Where the sweetest blossoms nod and smile,
And we lay aside our cross of care,
Once in a while.

Once in a while within our own
We clasp the hand of a steadfast friend;
Once in a while we hear a tone
Of love, with the heart's own voice to blend;
And the dearest of all our dreams come true,
And on life's way is a golden mile,
Each thirsting flower is kissed with dew,
Once in a while.

Once in a while in the desert sand
We find a spot of the fairest green;
Once in a while from where we stand
The hills of Paradise are seen;
And a perfect joy in our hearts we hold,
A joy that the world cannot defile;
We trade earth's dross for the purest gold,
Once in a while.

Drink Cocoa for the Little Midnight Supper

Cocoa is not only the most refined and nourishing of beverages but the best to "sleep on". Cocoa allays the hunger craving of the stomach without to the least taxing digestion and has none of the ill and wakeful after effects of tea or coffee.

Now that a way has been found to extract the excessive heavy oil, any digestive difficulties you may have experienced with ordinary cocoa are entirely eliminated.

Dr. Faussett, M.D., F.R.C.S.I., a noted British expert, says: "Cocoa, when pure and deprived of an excess of fatty matter, abounds in every material necessary to the growth, development and sustenance of the body."

This Test Proves the Lighter Color

It is easy to prove that the extracting of excessive oil lightens the color of Cocoa. Take a pinch of Rockwood's and drop it into an open tin of any other cocoa. The contrast in color is at once noticeable—it proves that the darkening oils are excessively present in other kinds and not so in Rockwood's. You wouldn't think of adding cocoa oil to your food. Neither should you serve in your household a cocoa with this excessive, indigestible, fatty matter.

Rockwood's Cocoa

"The healthful cocoa with the lighter color"

The lighter color of Rockwood's proves that more of the heavy darkening oils have been removed than from other cocoas.

Their removal by our special process not only makes this cocoa absolutely digestible by every man, woman and child, but increases the nutritive value and leaves the pure, natural cocoa flavor unimpaired.

Rockwood gives to the world an absolutely pure cocoa, free from excess oil, possessing a delightful appetizing aroma and a flavor equal to the finest chocolate. Good at morning, noon and night.

Rockwood's Cocoa is an invigorating, nerve-soothing, health-sustaining food beverage.

—the light color cocoa that doctors recommend.

Rockwood's Cocoa comes in 1-pound cans and in smaller sizes. The smallest size—5 cents—can be bought singly, or six in a box. These little cans make it easy to test the superiority of a light-colored cocoa.

Beauty is Health.

A clear skin—A bright eye—Grace and poise in every motion—Mean Health.

They are the very foundation of beauty. Health means good blood, well-nourished tissues, abundant vitality and visible energy underlying every expression and motion.

King's Puremalt

Is pre-eminent as a Guardian of Health—
A Preserver of Beauty—A Creator of Energy.

Pale cheeks, wan lips, lustreless eyes, lackadaisical bodies, vanish like magic if one uses

King's Puremalt, the Health Builder

Systematically and with intelligence.

Collier's Weekly, in its issue of September 2, 1911, published an article entitled, "Here Are Foods That Are Pure," by Margaret Wagner. There was printed in this article, "A List From Which Housewives May Choose Without Doubt Or Hesitancy." This list was the result of several years' analytical work by the pupils of the State Normal School at Westfield, Massachusetts, under the direction of Professor Lewi B. Allyn. KING'S PUREMALT is mentioned among the food products of absolute pure quality. The indorsement of this preparation and the publication of the article by Collier's Weekly was unsolicited by the manufacturers. KING'S PUREMALT, with the addition of hypophosphites of iron and lime, is a medicinal tonic recognized for many years as a most dependable, strength-giving, body-building liquid food. Only the choicest materials are used in its manufacture. It is without an equal and is recommended generally by physicians. KING'S PUREMALT is sold at all drug stores and in strict conformity with the Pure Food and Drugs Act of June 30, 1906. Send for prices to your druggist or to us.

TEN PAGES.

IN ILLINOIS.

The Illinois primaries have astonished everybody because everything was so one-sided. Had Roosevelt and Clark received small majorities it would not have aroused much surprise, but that their margins should be enormous makes everybody from Washington city to Washington stare sit up and take notice.

On the Democratic side the result is due in great measure to the remarks in Wilson's History of the United States regarding undesirable elements brought in by the immigration of the past few years. What he said was true and ought not to prejudice him in the minds of intelligent and reflecting Poles or Hungarians, but most of us are not especially intelligent or reflecting and all are quick to take offense at any unflattering reference to our race, country or religion. Of course this is probably not the only thing. Illinois Democrats may prefer Clark, who has long been one of the most active and aggressive supporters of William Jennings Bryan, to Woodrow Wilson, who has only recently become a radical and an aspirant for the mantle of the prophet who perhaps has not yet ascended far enough to be out of the reach of a call from a national convention.

With the Republicans there is no doubt that Lorimer was a leading issue. Illinois sentiment for and against the Senator is belligerent, and much of it is against him. A year or more ago, Roosevelt refused to go to a banquet if Lorimer was to be invited. The President unnecessarily and foolishly has used his influence to save Lorimer from being unseated, or at least is reputed to have done so, and there has been no convincing denial. He had no reason to involve himself in that fight, and if he was to take any part it should have been against a man in whose interest corruption was unquestionably employed, whether or not the Senator himself was a party to it.

The success of Roosevelt, however, may not be an injury to the President in the long run. Of course it would have been an advantage to him to have the vote of the state, but North Dakota has made La Follette a serious rival of the President and the Roosevelt campaign has been showing tendencies to go to pieces. There being undeniably a large insurgent element in the Republican party which is hostile to the President, it is decidedly in his interest to keep it divided and following rival candidates. If Roosevelt had made a poor show in Illinois it might have resulted in most of his followers deserting him for the Wisconsin man. Now it is quite certain that each of the aspirants will stay on the course to the nomination shall be made, and if possible Taft's victory may be Taft's opportunity.

IMPARTIAL STATESMEN.

Congressman Lindbergh is shocked that bankers and railroad men should sit in Congress and vote on matters which affect their own interests. Abstractly considered, this ought not to be, but in the concrete, what can we do about it? There are probably too many lawyers and too few business men in Congress now, and if the lawyers owned no property, had no shares or bonds and owned no farms their usefulness as legislators would not be increased. From the beginning manufacturers have sat in Congress and voted on tariff bills. Men who own farms have not only voted on the duties on wheat and potatoes, but last summer many of them opposed Canadian reciprocity because they thought it would reduce the value of their property.

Are we condemned, then, to be governed by men whose interests are adverse to those of the public? Certainly not. The people can elect whom they please, and it is pretty certain that they will not keep on sending to Congress men who oppose the things which their constituents desire. For example, if the Representative from Fall River voted against duties on cotton goods, or the Representative from Pittsburgh voted for free trade in iron and steel, he would stand a good chance of being elected to stay at home at the next ensuing election.

We can't have a Congress of impartial men, and we do not desire one. We have interests and wish them represented in Congress, and to that end we send men whose concerns are the same as ours. We expect them to vote in accordance with their own interests because they share these with us. Perhaps Lindbergh's constituents would not send a banker or a railroad man to Congress, but there are constituencies where such business men would be recognized as eminently suitable representatives of the leading interests of the vicinity.

There is no occasion for being frightened about the Congressmen who vote in their own interests; the people do govern themselves, in spite of what Roosevelt says, and one way of doing it is a habit they have of defeating a Congressman whose votes have not proved satisfactory to those who elected him. The people have ample means of protecting themselves without any devices of Lindbergh's invention.

LOWERING THE STANDARDS OF THE BAR.

The profession of the law has been changed so largely by certain representatives of the fraternity that it has come to be regarded by some as one which rather preys upon than aids society, as no longer a useful occupation but simply concerned with helping people fight their quarrels. This is of course too sweeping a denunciation of lawyers as a body. There are still very many members of the bar whose sole object in the practice of their profession is the securing of justice and the settlement of honest differences between individuals or bodies of men. Still, it is true that a considerable proportion of those who practice law do so in such a manner and in connection with cases of such a petty character as to give the impression that they are concerned only with the pressing of personal quarrels and they have little thought or care for the rights of individuals but only for the mazes, intricacies and loopholes of the law.

Some one prominent in the national life of the day recently publicly expressed regret that there are so many lawyers who have been diverted from useful occupations, from productive industry, and have devoted themselves to the fighting of the quarrels of others. It is greatly to be regretted that any one in the legal profession should expose himself to such an imputation of wasting his life and reducing the sum total of productive capacity of the population of the nation, and it is still more to be regretted that any considerable number of such men should be so exposed, for a stain is thus placed upon a profession highly honorable in itself and which should be carefully kept so by those engaged in it. That such a stain exists is partially true, that it is as deep as some seem to think is hardly to be believed, but that it ought to be removed all will agree. That it lies largely in the power of the best men in that fraternity to accomplish this end is probable, for bar associations can at least exercise a moral influence over their members and impress upon them the importance of elevating rather than lowering the standard of the profession, and relieving it from even the imputation of taking men from productive industry and leading them to waste their lives in fighting petty quarrels.

WITHOUT FLIES OR MOSQUITOES.

Each year as the warm weather approaches attention is called to the numerous pests which make life a burden at times and the diseases which follow in their wake. Among those most to be dreaded are the mosquito and the common house fly and it is good to know that war is being waged all over the country to exterminate if possible, both these enemies of mankind. There was a time when these nuisances were regarded as hopelessly unavoidable and to be endured with as much patience as one could muster, but within the past few years this has been changed by far-seeing scientists. It is now known that not only can these pests be lessened in a large degree every year, but in time by judicious treatment of low lands and standing water and complete sanitation in house and grounds the mosquito and the fly will be banished. It is also claimed that many flies are hatched in stables and that as more and more the automobile is taking the place of horse and carriage fewer stables lessen the number of flies every year from this source in addition, the mosquito with its breeding places filled up or saturated with oil has no chance to annoy or carry disease, as without a breeding place the pests must be exterminated.

Park commissioners all over the country are doing much good in this respect and each year sees more and more the result of their labors in the filling of waste places, thus not only being rid of one of the worst of pests but making beauty spots of what were breeding places of disease and annoyance. It is only within a comparatively few years that it has been learned that these flies and mosquitoes are not only nuisances but that death and danger are in their wake, for the common house fly with its innocent appearance is one of the worst carriers of typhoid germs as well as other diseases, while the mosquito bears malaria in its worst forms and in some foreign countries, as every one knows now is also a carrier of yellow fever. Surely every one should do his part to assist in the extermination of these pests to mankind, which not only take away a great part of the summer's pleasure but are a menace to all with whom they come in contact.

It is hoped that in the not distant future it will be possible to live without thinking of the danger and annoyance created whenever a mosquito or a fly comes within a home. Whoever works for the extermination of these creatures is doing something for mankind which cannot be overestimated and the hope is entertained that the time will soon come when these summer pests will be only a memory and all can spend the warm season where and when they choose, without fear of danger from contamination by fly or mosquito. That is a pleasing prospect and one which scientists promise will some day be realized.

The New York Democrats follow the dictates of Boss Murphy of Tammany Hall, and unanimously elect delegates to the national convention uninstructed for any candidate, but pledged to cast the 90 votes as a unit. What a chance for dickering Murphy, with the 90 delegates hanging to his coat-tails, has! With that solid vote he can make or break a candidate and almost dictate the platform. It must be said, however, that the four delegates-at-large, barring Murphy, are men of integrity and high standing—Governor John A. Dix, Senator James A. O'Gorman and Judge Alton B. Parker—and many of the district delegates are men of prominence.

The United States Senate has voted against the reduction of the cavalry arm of the regular army by five regiments, as proposed by the House in the demand for economy. Seventeen Democrats opposed the reduction and only five members voted for it. There are strong indications that similar action will be taken by the Senate on the naval program of the House Democrats, and the two-battleship appropriation will be demanded and finally become a law.

Home rule for Ireland caused the disruption of the Liberal party under Gladstone and kept it out of power nearly 20 years. Prime Minister Asquith's bill appears to be more successful than either of its predecessors in bringing together all the Liberals, the Laborites and the two sections of the Nationalist pary. The Unionists and Ulsterites oppose it as they would any bill giving Ireland a home government.

The great spot discovered on the sun February 18, from which California astronomers predicted weather disturbances up to May 1, has been re-discovered. Does this mean that we are to have still more of the unsettled weather which we have "enjoyed" during the past six weeks?

Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey is charged with neglect of duty, not only in being absent from the state on his political trips, but with vetoing bills without having given them the study which they demand. But really he must look out for his presidential canvass.

Colonel Roosevelt never was strong on compromises, and now he says: "Nobody must dare suggest a compromise to me." Nevertheless, some one, and perhaps others, will dare. Even he cannot tell everybody what they shall or shall not do.

Really very much like spring.

HEARST "SPECIAL DESPATCHES."

[Providence Journal.]

That false report of the Pope's death that came from Madrid yesterday morning caused doubts in most newspaper offices, especially as it was nearly three hours before denial could be secured from Rome. But it did not embarrass the Boston American in the slightest. It rushed off extras by the thousand, with the first page bordered in black and declared:

"News of the death is contained in despatches to the Boston American from Rome today."

"The news has been officially confirmed."

This splendid achievement of Mr. Hearst's Boston paper did not end with this "official" confirmation of the report of the Pope's death, but included a touching death-bed scene. Sickening as such a deliberate fabrication is, it should be noted by all who care to understand Hearst journalism. Here is one extract:

"Just before the Pontiff yielded up his spirit he spoke to those around his bedside, whose prayers for his passing soul were broken by quiet sobbing. The Pope's death followed a fainting spell which brought his sisters and his confessor, Cardinal Vives y Tuto, quickly to his side."

The truth, as told in Associated Press despatches was that the Pope continued his daily audiences yesterday. The discouraging feature of such deliberate faking of "despatches from Rome" is that even the thousands who read the Hearst paper yesterday will be reading it again today. They like that sort of thing.

Governor's Orders Against Gambling in Scituate Reported as Ignored.

Compromise on Division of Warwick Suggested—Hearing on the Utilities Bill.

The orders by Governor Pothier that violations of the liquor law and gambling ordinances be stopped by the town authorities of Scituate have had no effect in Rockland, according to report. It is stated that last Sunday was marked by a "prize fight" close to the main highway between Rockland and Clayville, and that liquor was being sold at a place in Rockland and another in Clayville. Hardly a Sunday passes, it is said, that drunkenness is not apparent and that women who go over the highways are not insulted. Gambling is declared to be going on, not only with cards, but at the pool tables. No pool is played without money bets, it is stated, and the places are filled with boys of tender age, who hear obscenity from the mouths of the older men in the places. It is declared that one of the resorts in the town is used as a loafing place for thieves, confidence men and other undesirables. The conditions in the town are said to have been put up to Deputy Sheriff Nathan Colvin, who is the chief of police in Scituate, but, it is declared, nothing has been done to carry out the orders from the State House for a closing-up of the resorts against which the people of the district are complaining.

A compromise on the pending proposition for the division of the town of Warwick, by which East Warwick will control the expenditure of its own money and thus obtain the improvements desired, is suggested by Dr. Fenner H. Peckham, one of the advocates of division. It is, in brief, the setting aside of East Warwick as a district, with power to manage its own affairs, and it is offered in the belief that if the legislature will not order a popular vote on division for political or constitutional grounds it is better to have a district than to continue existing conditions. Dr. Peckham states that he has not changed his views as to the desirability of division, but is convinced that if the obstacles already encountered cannot be overcome at this session of the General Assembly the people of East Warwick may find it advantageous to take up the question of a district having authority to levy and expend taxes for local improvements. "The credit of Warwick is impaired, its roads are rough and dangerous, damage suits are being pushed, and, as has been stated, the town has no money to pay lawyers to defend it in the courts," said Dr. Peckham.

The relative importance of the state and the city of Providence, and the ability of the city to decide for itself what kinds of franchises it will give or refuse, were subjects of discussion Thursday at a public hearing given by the house judiciary committee. Several persons representing public service corporations asked that the senate amendment giving the utilities commission right to supervise city and town franchise grants, be retained in the bill by the house when it is reported from the committee. Representatives of the city of Providence and two persons representing another public service corporation asked that the amendment be turned down by the committee, and that cities and towns be not placed under its restricting provisions. Mayor Fletcher, City Solicitor Baker and half a dozen or more members of the city council of Providence declared the amendment vicious and one which would rob councils of a power which they should have in order to protect the interests of their people.

Announcement has been made of the resignation of Harold M. Jones, teacher of mathematics and science at the Pawtucket high school, to take effect at the close of the present week. Mr. Jones's resignation was presented to the sub-committee on teachers several days ago, and as he desired to be relieved of his duties as soon as possible the committee at once made arrangements to fill the vacancy. It is understood that temporary appointment has been made of Rollin M. Shrevers of Boston and that he is to enter upon his new duties next Monday. Mr. Jones was appointed a teacher at the high school three years ago at a salary of $1,200 per annum, and while there has made many friends among the faculty and pupils. He has always taken a deep interest in athletics, which made him a strong favorite with the boys, his advice being much sought. Rollin M. Shrevers, who is to succeed Mr. Jones, is at present a student at Harvard College, where he is taking a post-graduate course, having completed his studies at the college several years ago. He is also a graduate of Colorado Normal School and has for the past six years taught school, two years of which he was principal of a high school in the West. Mr. Shrevers has been in Pawtucket for the past week in daily attendance at the school, securing an insight into the department of which he is to take charge.

The continuation of the protective department under the supervision of the city of Providence is advocated by the board of fire commissioners, who ask the city council to make provision for continuing the Protectives as a part of the regular equipment. This means that about $12,000 a year additional expense will be incurred, a member of the board said. Commissioner Hunt declared that the Protectives had amply proved their worth in the Dimond store fire, when they saved thousands of dollars of property which otherwise would have been lost because of smoke and water damage. He also declared that they are particularly valuable from the point of view of the poor man who cannot afford to have insurance on his goods, because they cover his property and keep the loss down.

The two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the inauguration of Samuel Ward as governor of Rhode Island in 1762, is to be observed at Westerly May 17, under the auspices of the Rhode Island Citizens' Historical Association. The principal speaker will be former Speaker Roswell B. Burchard. Governor Ward was a resident of Westerly when he became governor of Rhode Island, an dit is for this reason that the celebration will be held in the South county town.

A letter from Colonel Michael J. Roe, commanding the First regiment, Hibernian Rifles, offering his regiment to represent the state at the Perry memorial exercises at Put-in-Bay, was presented in the house Thursday by Representative O'Neil of Providence. Representative O'Neil some time ago presented a resolution making an appropriation to pay the expenses of this regiment at the celebration, but at that time Representative Matthews of Providence objected to its consideration, claiming that Mr. O'Neil had no authority for introducing such a resolution. The introduction of Colonel Roe's letter, however, offset the claim made at that time.

THE WEATHER.

BOSTON, April 12.—Forecast for Boston and vicinity—Fair tonight; Saturday, probably occasional showers; moderate, variable winds.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

Fair weather, with much clear sky, obtains in all Atlantic states. In the central valleys and all western districts unsettled conditions prevail, with showers at scattered stations. The pressure is still below the normal in the extreme Northwest. The western depression has increased in intensity and moved southeastward, the lowest barometer reading reported being 29.40 inches at Denver, Col. Except slightly cool weather in northwestern districts there have been no extensive changes in temperature as compared with the readings of Thursday morning. The lowest reported in the country is again at Greenville, Maine, 30 degrees, with a minimum reading last night of 26 degrees. The unsettled conditions which now overlie the western portion of the country will drift eastward and showers are likely to occurr at scattered points in this vicinity during tomorrow. In New York city at 8 a. m. the temperature was 48. Washington, 52, St. Louis 62, Chicago 50, St. Paul 44, Kansas City 62, Denver 46 and San Francisco 56.

BEACH APPRAISAL BILLS TABLED.

Offer of Residuary Fitts Estate for Nathan and Elizabeth Hammett Home.

Leave to Withdraw Broadway Skating Rink Petition, in Face of Protests.

The Board of Aldermen held its weekly meeting Thursday evening, Mayor Boyle presiding, and all the members present.

The regular pay rolls were approved in the following sums: Streets and highways, $1,564.12; police, $879.26; fire department, $318.74; city officers, ...; firemen in theatres, $36.

Monthly pay rolls from the Touro Ministerial fund, amounting to $150 ... Rev. M. Eckstein, $50 for Rev. ... Block and $16.66 for N. Freid... were also approved.

The beach appraisal brought in three bills, from J. J. Kelly for $500, from David G. Swain for $90 and from P. ... Reardon for $36. Apparently they were not at the moment received with favor. It was explained to the new alderman that Mr. Kelly was the appraiser of the city, and Mr. Swain the man called in for the appraisal. The question was raised by the mayor if Mr. Kelly had been authorized to engage anyone else at the expense of the city for the appraisal, and if the ... Mr. Reardon, for two weeks' ... with the appraisers had been ... by Messrs. Kelly and Johnson. The board agreed that Mr. Kelly had not been authorized to hire any one at the expense of the city. The mayor thought some explanation was called for. Mr. Albro asked if Mr. Swain was expected to explain, and he said the others could explain for him. It was voted to lay the bills on the table to await an explanation.

The report of Chief of Police Crowley for the quarter ending with March was received.

Charlie Lee was given an eating house license.

The following communication was received from Clark Burdick:

"To the Honorable Board of Aldermen of the City of Newport:

"Your petitioner, Edward K. Stevens, administrator de bonis non with the will annexed upon the estate of Maria M. Fitts, deceased, respectfully represents that he has filed in the court of probate his final account of said estate, and that said account has been allowed; that the balance of said estate in his hands is $13,247.91, which under the will of said Maria M. Fitts is payable to the city of Newport, to be by it applied in keeping the said Nathan and Elizabeth Hammett Home and in supporting worthy poor persons of Newport, ... that by the terms of said will certain real estate is given to the city of Newport upon the death of the ... tenant.

"Wherefore your petitioner respectfully prays that the city treasurer may be authorized and directed to receive said balance and to give to your petitioner a proper receipt therefor.

"Edward K. Stevens
"Administrator
"by Clark Burdick, Attorney."

The city clerk suggested that the matter be referred to the city solicitor for a report. It might be something the city could not afford to accept, as it might involve an expense which the city would not care to assume. The communication was accordingly referred to the city solicitor for a report.

The protest of the School Committee made at its meeting Monday evening against the granting of a license for a skating rink on the F. W. ... property on Broadway and ... street, was received. Rev. N. J. ... of the First Presbyterian church presented the protest of that church against the granting of a license in the same place. Mr. Neil McLennan of the committee of the church was also present. Mayor Boyle asked Rev. Mr. Sproul if he cared to speak on the subject, as the protest ... and suggested that it ... unnecessary, as it was evident that the Board would not grant a license in view of the expression of the church and of the School Committee. Without any unnecessary delay and in other words the board voted to give the petitioner leave to withdraw and the matter of a license for a skating rink on Broadway was disposed of.

The acceptance by the Newport & Fall River Street Railroad Company of the grant of locations recently made for poles on Bliss road, Caswell avenue and Corne street was received.

The ashes question came up and Mr. ... said he had not been able to ... very much, but had received a proposition for collecting and ... Mr. Albro also had some. He thought the committee would be ready ... Saturday night. Mr. Albro suggested that perhaps Friday night would be better, as they had engaged ... Dugan only until Saturday night ... some notice was due the present ... and the new man. The Board voted to adjourn until Friday, to take action on the ashes collection.

MANY NEW RECRUITS

the Naval Reserves Make a Good Showing in Drills at Their Annual Inspection.

The postponed inspection of the local division of the Naval Reserves was held Thursday evening at the state armory, Adjutant General Abbot being the inspecting officer. The command has recently engaged in recruiting up to something like its normal strength and so there is now a great deal of what may be called raw material which had to be "whipped into shape" in a few weeks. The membership is now such as should put a stop to some rumors heard up the state, that the command was to go out of existence. There has been a dropping out of many men who were enthusiastic while the basket ball team was in the ascendency, but when it ... out their interest seems to have done likewise. There is a feeling that the new material with the ... it has the probability of ... up the command to an efficient military organization.

The percentage for attendance at inspection undoubtedly received ... mark, for practically every man was accounted for, which shows ... Naturally the more advanced ... was not looked for with so ... recruits, but some of the older men who have specialized gave a good account of themselves in their line. The manual of arms was particularly ... even for a command more ... in drill. Quartermasters ... and Kinney gave a semaphore drill and the street riot drill ... the audience, which was composed of former members of the ..., seamen gunners and apprentice seamen and women. The ... was completely filled and ... were accommodated on ... floor.

Of the 53 men the company now ... 51 were present. Two of the ... were out because of death in their families and four of those ... were on sick report and hence ... take an active part in the work ... evening.

RECEIVED STOLEN GOODS.

Fined for Having Oats Taken from Railroad Car—Arrested for Leaving a Bicycle Standing.

The matter of stealing from cars in the freight yard received more attention at the police station session of the district court this morning. David Goldberg and Harry Sperling were charged with receiving stolen property; to wit, oats stolen from a car in the freight yard by the boys who were recently arraigned. The police had the evidence and each pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $5 and costs—and oats are only 72 cents a bushel. Robert I. Hawkins was arrested by a special railroad official who has been looking into this matter, charged with stealing potatoes from a car in the freight yard. He pleaded guilty and was placed on probation.

John L. Cummings was arraigned on a charge of leaving a vehicle—a bicycle—on the street more than ten minutes. He pleaded not guilty and the court held him in $50 bail. Perhaps $50 is not much, but it is big when one cannot obtain it, and as defendant did not find it before it was time to commit him he went to jail, where finally bail was furnished. Of course he could have paid the fine, but that would have been a shorter way, and also less expensive.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. Chester B. Tallman is at Block Island.

—Dr. William Burdick returned to Baltimore this afternoon.

—C. B. Anderson's men have put in another trap up the bay.

—The contracts for the beach improvements have been signed.

—Mrs. Harold Brown has taken apartments at the Hotel Plaza, New York.

—Mr. James A. Swan and Mr. R. L. Gerry returned to New York this morning.

—The police station is receiving its spring cleaning. And there are no more signs of a new station than there were last year—fewer, in fact.

—The Newport Ice Company is icing steamer Priscilla, which is to leave Sunday to be hauled out on the dry dock, and then go on the Fall River line.

—Steamer Winona, Captain Frank Lewis of the Seaconnet River Oyster Company was in Thursday, with a load of anchors. It was the start for the season.

—The big hard pine sticks received by automobile at the new Anthony building Thursday are now being fitted to serve as the main timbers supporting the first floor.

—The recently elected officers of Newport Lodge, No. 104, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, were installed Thursday evening. During the meeting a number of new members were elected.

—The school teachers' excursion which went to Washington for the Easter vacation arrived home this morning, with the exception of Mr. Alger, who stopped at Brooklyn for a day or two.

—Another relic of a century or more ago is disappearing. The old house on Levin street opposite St. Mary's school, which has been uninhabitable for years, is being torn down. Parts of it rotted and fell long since.

—The local fishing boats all came in Thursday with good catches. The Clara T. had 1,300 pounds of cod and haddock, the Alice 1,765 pounds, the Priscilla 2,567 pounds, the Martha 700 pounds, and the Thomas B. Congdon was the high line with 3,045 pounds.

—The entertainment in the Trinity guild hall is given by the Girls' Club to defray the expenses of their greenhouse. The members do the work themselves and cheer many a sick room or lonely home with the flowers they raise.

—Superintendent Benjamin J. Whitten of the New York Yacht Club Station No. 6 has arrived from Miami, Fla., where he spent the winter, according to custom, looking browner than usual. It has been a warm winter down there and the fishing was good.

—This morning the Narragansett Grays defeated the Trinity Choir team at base ball by the score of 6 to 5. The battery for the winners were Doyle and Gorton, and for the losers Spooner, Maxwell and Kazanjian. The feature was the catching of Gorton for the Grays.

—An automobile truck load of hard pine lumber came from Fall River this morning and went to the Torpedo Station. The truck just fitted on ferryboat Wave and a few inches more in width would have interrupted the trip. The little ferry steamer settled some when she took the load on board.

—A day or two ago a report was in circulation that Mr. John T. Reagan had died in Virginia. The report was not credited at the time and Thursday Mr. Reagan's friends were glad to see him in the flesh, looking like a new man. His residence on a farm in Florida for a year or so has completely changed him and he is again looking well and fit. He is here for a short visit.

—Mayor Boyle has received an invitation to write something for the first issue of the Town Criers' Journal. The mayor says he might supply some reminiscences of Jonathan Bosworth, but does not know if they would suit. It may be that ex-Mayor Franklin could be induced to contribute something about Samuel C. Sanford, who antedated Jonathan by many years and for many years.

—Mr. Peter G. Gerry appeared before the tax assessors today and declared his taxable property. Like his father, the commodore. There were other callers on the assessors who, as they expected, are having more visitors as the time grows shorter. Saturday is the last day of the open meeting and the last on which a registry voter can apply to be assessed if he desires to change to a taxpaying voter.

ON TRIAL FOR MURDER.

Defendant Apparently Does Not Realize His Serious Situation.

Evidence for the Prosecution, Connecting Silvia With the Shooting of Duffy.

The trial of Manuel Silvia, the young man charged with the murder of Joseph Duffy in Tiverton March 17, began this morning in the district court before Judge Franklin. This court, after hearing the evidence which the state has to present against the defendant, will determine whether it is sufficient to warrant holding him for the grand jury in June; if not, the court will order his discharge from custody.

The crime for which Silvia is held was committed on Lake road, Tiverton, in broad daylight on a Sunday afternoon. Duffy, a driver for Joe Mello, a milkman, was driving homeward, when he came across Silvia and a boy named Manuel Fernandez, on the road. The boys said something about the harness being deranged and heated words passed as a result. As Duffy leaped from his wagon three shots were fired, it is alleged by Silvia, one taking effect in the abdomen. Duffy was too weak to be taken to a hospital and lingered for a day, dying the following afternoon at his home in Tiverton.

The prosecution is conducted by Clark Burdick, representing the town of Tiverton, and the defendant's counsel is Mortimer A. Sullivan. Mr. Sullivan asked that all witnesses be excluded and called in as needed.

The first witness was Dr. Joseph W. Kenny of Adamsville, Little Compton, who testified that he attended Duffy after his injuries. He attributed death to shock and hemorrhages, caused by a bullet wound. There were no signs that the man had been drinking when he examined him.

Medical Examiner Stimson of Tiverton testified substantially the same. Could not say that the man had been drinking.

Manuel Fernandez, aged 18, said he saw defendant with a revolver and belt in his possession after the shooting. Witness spoke to Duffy just before the shooting, telling him that the bridle was coming off. Duffy's reply was: "Mind your own business, I'm driving these horses." Witness thought Duffy was drunk, else he would not have talked that way. He identified a revolver and belt as those that he saw on Silvia.

Antone DeRose, 24 years of age, testified through an interpreter. He was the man who with the assistance of a companion lifted Duffy from the road, after the shooting, and drove him home, afterwards taking the wagon to Mello's farm. He said the wagon contained only grain, thereby contradicting the statement of Dr. Kenny that it was filled with milk cans.

When De Rose first saw Duffy he was lying on the side of the road, about three paces behind his team. He moved the team to one side of the road, so that others could pass and then with the help of a companion lifted Duffy into the wagon and drove him home. As he bent over him, he said he smelt beer, but could not say he was drunk.

Officer John Shutt, the next witness, identified the revolver and belt as the same he took from Silvia's room after the shooting. They were found in a trunk in his room.

The court interrupted at 1 o'clock to take a recess until 2:15.

Young Silvia does not appear to be greatly moved by the ordeal through which he is obliged to pass. It may be that he does not understand everything said, for the expression on his face is that of one who does not comprehend exactly what is going on. He has dark blue eyes, black hair and a clear complexion, slightly paled by his confinement of late, and is what would be generally termed a good-looking boy. He wore a neat blue suit, white collar and dark tie, and is more refined, in the matter of appearance, than his youthful companions, who are present as witnesses.

SHORE NOTES.

Mr. Edward Wilson's houseboat Sara is out at the shipyard for her spring overhauling.

Mr. Anthony's lighter Mascot and Mr. C. B. Anderson's fishing steamer Vigilant are hauled out.

The boiler and engine have been taken from steam yacht Azubah at the shipyard

Fishing smack Annie T. Mack and launch Gretchen are hauled out at Williams & Manchester's yard, where fishing steamer Spray has been put overboard for the season.

The big fishing steamer Raymond J. Anderton, which has been leased to the Merritt & Chapman Wrecking Company during the winter and has been stationed at Woods Hole, is in port. She is about to return to fishing, the wrecking season being on the decline, after a very active winter.

BENEFIT DANCE FOR MRS. LEE.

The Fort Adams Social Club is to give a dance Saturday evening at the state armory for the benefit of Mrs. Lee, widow of the late Corporal Lee, who was killed at Fort Greble. Lieutenant Horsfall has made the necessary arrangements to secure the armory free of charge, and Colonel Coffin is to send the Fort Adams orchestra. First Lieutenant Lloyd P. Horsfall will be master of ceremonies and committees on arrangements, reception, floor and decorations have been appointed.

NEW WIRELESS STATION.

To be Erected by the New England Navigation Company at Dangerous Point Near Westerly.

Work on the erection of a wireless telegraph station on the Shore road, Westerly, opposite the point where the ill-fated Larchmont sank five years ago, and near Montauk, Long Island, where the Ontario is now smouldering, was begun today. The station will be owned by the New England Navigation Company and will be between the Point Judith wireless station and the Scott Company's station at New London.

The section of the coast between these two stations is considered the worst stretch on the Sound. The decision of the company to begin work at once was hastened, it is said, by the burning of the Ontario.

MILLINERY NOVELTIES.

The New Biscotte Shades Are Found Not Only in Fancy Feathers, But in Flowers as Well.

[Millinery Trade Review.]

Naturally every effort is being made to popularize flowers. It would appear that small clusters and branchings were the favorite although any number of large roses are being used. While some of the products of the millinery garden are very natural in appearance the majority are in such colors that they become hardly recognizable as the flower from which they were formed. Silk flowers are very well liked in shaded effects.

One of the novelties is deep orange and the burnt shades. The nearest approach to these beautiful colorings that are to be found on the spring color card is the Biscotte shades. One finds these colors not only in fancy feathers in paradise and in shaded ostrich but in flowers as well. It is not difficult to recall the popularity of such brilliant shades as coque de rocho and burnt orange, and from present indications their success under new names is to be repeated.

Practically all shades of red and rose are strong, from cardinal to the vivid primrose, which catches the eye on all sides. Rather nearer the ever popular American Beauty shades are the Blason reds, and these are enjoying marked success. Apparently we are to be gaily hatted this season for every one looks well in some shade of red or rose and the same may be said of purples, for they are equally good in the red and other shadings.

Milans are very strong for pressed hats and for the new Scotch tams and barrettes. A particularly smart one is in brilliant sauterelle green, really quite a seasonable and certainly a stunning shade; this hat is in one color, including the fancy aigrette at side.

Chrysanthemum braid has been revived, as we know, and appears very frequently in combination with changeant taffeta, the popular colorings being the deep winey purples and reds.

Plateaux and bands of hair braid and other weaves are being used for the barrette and tam crowns.

Leghorns are not very strong unless as a foundation. They are considered smart when covered with pleated lace or else lace or batiste embroidery covering the straw, without a fulness. A novelty is a printed net in Oriental colorings, and this is stunning over Leghorn and other yellowish straws. French crepe is used for veiling, particularly the under brim.

A novelty worth mentioning is the hand-painted hat. Panama makes a splendid surface for this work. A stunning white Panama had huge roses painted in a trailing design over the entire top, the under brim being faced with lace.

Paradise will continue in favor. It is now appearing in bewildering colors. The use of the bird's head is now considered smart, but one rarely finds the entire bird, the head and tail being considered sufficient. Natural paradise is having a good sale and there is some demand for brilliant green, for purple and for black and white. The curled and natural drooping effects are both good, the choice being entirely a matter of personal preference. There are also cockades, pompoms, wing and bow effects and amazons from which to choose.

In ornaments the latest cry is for amber, crystal and pearl. The last named have been used more in the foreign markets than in America, but it is expected that pearls will gain favor as the season advances. They are a natural decoration for laces, maline and such delicate materials. Amber is a lovely surely and a very lovely one. The beauty of its coloring harmonizes with the new Biscotte and burnt orange shades. Amber is stunning on white and effective in black, dark blue and brown. The crystal effects are strongest in bands. Bugle trimming and fringe are made in crystal. It is also applied on some laces, on lace, and, of course, on allover nets and chiffon.

Lastly the continued popularity of the leg o-cap, the beguin or whatever one prefers to call it, is responsible for the greater number of sales in this dainty trimming. It is also in demand for coiffure ornaments, for scarfs or for dress trimming.

His daughter, Miss Julia Dent Grant, was married at All Saints Chapel to Prince Michael Cantacuzeme of Russia September 25, 1899, her father then being on duty in the Philippines.

THE MERCHANT MARINE.

Too Late to Begin Legislation at This Session of Congress.

Alexander Active—House Action Will Put Makers of Phosphorus Matches Out of Business.

[Washington correspondence of The News.]

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Our merchant marine receives attention from time to time. Congressman Alexander, who is chairman of the committee on merchant marine, is moving in the direction of getting facts and information on the subject. The chairman is from Missouri, but that is not why he has to be "shown" before he will advocate a bill for subsidies. In fact, it may be taken for granted that he will never see clear enough to report such a bill.

At present Alexander has been collating the information contained in the departments on the subject of decadence of American shipping. This consists of reports of consuls, diplomatic agents, treasury reports and reports from the bureau of navigation. Later persons interested in shipping will be summoned before the committee to give information on the subject.

No action will be the result. It is too late now to begin legislation on such an important subject. Even if a bill were reported it could not be acted on owing to the pressure of other business. No legislation of such a character could pass in the short session, so we may feel sure that there will be nothing done during the present Congress. While it is a fact that every person deplores the loss of our merchant marine, there is no such insistence upon having it restored as to compel Congress to act. Legislation needs active and insistent advocates.

By a tremendous majority the Democratic House of Representatives passed a bill imposing such a tax on phosphorus matches as to drive the manufacturers of such matches out of business. And what is more, it was openly stated that the purpose of the legislation was to affect that result.

During the discussion several old time Democrats inveighed against such legislation. They expressed themselves as opposed to the law for a tax on state bank circulatio ad the high tax on oleomargarine, both of which were not to raise revenue.

But the fact that the phosphorus matches caused so much sickness and disease was so apparent that the bill passed with a comparatively few dissenting votes. This shows that when a majority are determied to accomplish a great result they can find a way to do it, and, what is more, there are plenty of people who will ease up on their constitutional convictions in order to favor a great moral issue.

Senator Ashurst, the new man from Arizona, is young, but confident. When he was a candidate for the Senate in the primaries he met Mr. Lane of the Interstate Commerce Commission. He told Lane that he began as a poor boy, rode the range as a cowboy, became a ranchman, ws finally elected to the legislature and was then a candidate for the Senate.

"I hear the Republicans are going to send some heavy guns into Arizona to contest the new state, among them Senator Lodge," remarked Ashurst.

"If they do," replied Lane, "you challenge him to joint debate, and begin by telling your life story as you have told it to me."

"Leave the scenery to me, Mr. Lane," was the confident response of Ashurst.

A Pennsylvania Congressman has introduced a bill which presents a curious idea as to justice. t provides that in case a piece of mail does not have a sufficient amount of postage attached double the amount of unpaid postage shall be collected upon delivery. The person receiving it may not have any interest whatever in the piece of mail. It may be a circular or paper he does not want, yet he is to be assessed double postage when, as a matter of fact, he ought not to pay any.

Discussing political conditions a short time ago a Republican member of the House remarked. "Roosevelt has stirred up things, but we can't tell whether we are dead or alive."

That shows the chaotic condition of politics. Democrats are confident that they are going to win this year. The Republicans are much more confident than they were two years ago, but they are still doubtful about the effect of the Roosevelt campaign.

Those who are trying to pass a public utilities bill for the national capital are having great difficulty. There is a demand among the radicals for a bill with teeth in it. Up to the present time there has never been legislation that could in any way be considered adverse to the corporations in the District of Columbia.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL.

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Newport People Know How to Save It.

Many Newport people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know those organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—a remedy that has cured thousands of kidney sufferers.

The following statement leaves no ground for doubt.

Mrs. Frank Sylvester, 18 Congregational St., Bristol, R. I., says: "I know that Doan's Kidney Pills are an excellent remedy and cannot recommend them too highly. For some time my back ached and I was subject to dizzy and nervous spells. My kidneys did not act properly and I felt miserable in every way. Hearing about Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box and began their use. They helped me at once and soon completely relieved me. Another member of my family has taken Doan's Kidney Pills for disordered kidneys and weak back and they brought satisfactory results in this instance."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

tapestry brick, which have recently become popular. The facade will also be brightened with panels of mat tile. The cornice, marquise and exterior trim of the front are to be of metal and finished in antique bronze.

The sample room will be of great convenience to the drummers who come to the city as it will give them a place in which to make their displays right in the business section, and possibly through an entrance from the Perry House. There is also a possibility that the bedrooms on the third floor will be connected by a passageway with the Perry House, the two structures backing against each other.

The plans are by Herbert Wilson, formerly of this city but now engaged on important structural work in New York.

SCALP ITCHED TERRIBLY

"One evening while combing my hair, I noticed a few brown crustlike spots on my scalp and, of course, I thought it was only a little dust that had settled there during the week. So I washed my hair thoroughly but I saw that they wouldn't come out. Then at the end of the next week I washed my hair again, and to my astonishment I saw not only these few but many more had come. Then my head became worse and worse, and my scalp started to itch terribly, so that I could not sleep nor keep from scratching my head.

"The crustlike places later opened and made sores which bled, and they also itched something terrible. I tried many remedies but none helped and instead they made my head worse. This condition of my scalp kept up for a month, and then one day I met a friend and she advised me to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment which I did. In two weeks I was rid completely of this trouble, through the use of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I am never without them, for they are my most highly valued friends." (Signed) Miss Alva Gustafson, 677 Second Ave., New York City, May 17, 1911.

Although Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers throughout the world, a liberal sample of each, with 32-page booklet on the skin and hair, will be sent, post-free, on application to "Cuticura," Dept. K, Boston.

A WEALTHY RECLUSE.

Eccentric Old Man Wrote Family History in Stone Decorations on London House.

There has just died at Chelsea, London, Dr. John Samuel Phene, a rich eccentric old gentleman whose mysterious life has been the subject of much conjecture and gossip. For more than 60 years Dr. Phene lived the life of a recluse, relieved by periods of social intercourse No one knew that he had any relatives until he died at the age of 90, and now some relatives have been found.

Eccentric, but kind to the small circle of friends who knew him years ago, Dr. Phene was known widely, mainly owing to the fact that one of his houses, opposite that in which he died, is perhaps the most fantastically decorated in London. On its parapets, ledges, windws, everywhere where an ornament could be placed, he erected all kinds of weird statues. Yet there was a purpose in the years of work which he lavished on this building, which has remained empty for many years. He has written the history of his family in stone.

The house stands at the corner of Oakley street and Upper Cheyne row. It is a large building of about six stories, and its grim walls are coated with the grime of many winters. Carved in the stone above the portico are the words, "Renaissance du Chateau de Savenay." On the pilars beside the windows and above, to the top of the house, on the Cheyne-row side, are angels, griffins, coats of arms, mottoes and gargoyles. On the perapet are figures of Priam of Troy and Hecuba. A motto stands in relief—"Ex supero spe pugnam." It is a wonderful house, and it is an imitation, as far as possible, of the one occupied by Dr. Phene's ancestors at Savenay, on the Loire. The dead doctor traced his family from the Phoenicians through Persia, India, Troy and Italy, and has made a lasting monument to his name. The house has been called "Phene's Folly," but the doctor did not mind gossip. For many years he kept a staff of workmen in a workshop in the garden making these statues and figures. Once he admitted it cost him $5,000 a year.

Throughout Chelsea the eccentric old man was regarded with something akin to awe. He had few acquaintances, and in later years none [illegible] lowed to [illegible] above. He lived on Oakley street, so that he could see his handiwork progressing on the empty house of mystery opposite, and he asked no one to come to his rooms. Rev. S. P. T. Prideaux of Chelsea Old Church said that he had been introduced to Dr. Phene some years ago. "I found him a curious old man. Gossip had it that the object of the decoration of the house of mystery was that he wished to give the people of Chelsea an idea of what true art was like, and there were other exaggerated stories going around. For some reason the work was always in process. About four or five years ago Dr. Phene put a scaffolding up, but after the authorities interfered he had to take it down.

"At the end of the garden of this strange house stands another, smaller, and built in the style of Queen Anne. There is a curious story in connection with this, and I have it on good authority that there is some truth in it. The story is that inside this smaller house there is set in the dining room a wedding breakfast. It has lain like that for years, and, though all is prepared, the breakfast is never touched. The explanation is that years ago it was prepared for a wedding, but the bride died on her wedding morn, and in despair Dr. Phene shut up the house and never opened it again."

That the doctor was a scholar is proven by the fact that he was LL. D., F. S. A., M. R. T., V. P. R. S. L., F. R. I. B. A.

A woman who had known the recluse for the past 50 years stated that he had traveled widely in his younger days. About 20 years ago he gave magnificent dinners, but all these had been stopped. On one occasion he had Lord and Lady Kelvin to a garden party, when he lectured on his travels and displayed his curios to his guests. In the garden was a forge, and the paths were only about two feet wide, and were almost as intricate as a maze. Everywhere were statues, some of the royal family, and at the coronation of King Edward he had all the statues of the royal family arranged on his balcony and photographed as if they were living people. In his younger days he had journeyed all round the world, studying tribes and people who worshiped serpents, and five years ago was master of the Clothworkers' Company. He owned a large amount of property and land in Chelsea. One of the largest figures his workmen made in his private workshop was a huge statue of Queen Victoria, and some of the smallest were of pigmies.

TIVERTON.

At a special meeting of the town council, Dr. Charles H. Bryant was elected president, and minor officers were appointed.

Burdick & MacLeod of Newport were engaged as town counsel. Dr. Charles H. Bryant was authorized to release prisoners in the Newport County Jail, and A. Lincoln Hambly, town clerk, to accept burial funds, sign receipts and give orders for payments.

Amasa S. Williston and George W. Potter were appointed a committee to have plans and specifications prepared and advertise for bids for the construction of one mile of macadam road, west from Tiverton Four Corners.

It was voted that Henry C. Osborn repair Corey lane for a sum not exceeding $550.

Charles H. Bryant Amasa S. Williston, George W. Potter, John W. Kenney and Joseph Surprenant were appointed surveyors of highways.

DEATH OF GENERAL FREDERICK GRANT.

active list in the army, the late General Grant will be entitled to a most imposing military funeral [illegible] is the desire of the [illegible] ears of his family.

Although taken by surprise at the sudden demise, his friends in the War Department here for a long time have been under the apprehension that General Fred Grant, as he was affectionately called, was a very sick man. When he last appeared in Washington, several months ago, it was noted that his step had lost its briskness and the general walked slowly and with a trace of indecision. His complexion indicated serious functional derangements. The general admitted that he was not feeling very well, but declared that his condition was the result of much work and that he would soon be restored to good condition if he could take a short rest.

Taking leave he went South and soon after reports began to come to Washington of an alarming nature, the worst of them indicating that symptoms of the appearance of the same throat trouble which had caused the death of his father had made their appearance. These stories were promptly denied, though in a purely formal and unconvincing manner.

General Grant's death vacates the post which, next to that of chief of staff, is regarded as the most important in the army, commander-in-chief of the great eastern division. This position is of such importance that it cannot long be permitted to remain vacant, hence it is probable that very soon after the funeral it will be necessary to detail an officer of high rank for the position, probably Major General William H. Carter, now assistant chief of staff.

General Carter was the commander of the famous manoeuvre division in Texas last year and has been slated for detail as commander-in-chief of the Department of the Lakes, with headquarters at Chicago. It is believed that this program will be abandoned in view of the present emergency.

MANY RENDERED HOMELESS.

Fire in East Hartford Causes a Loss Tstimated at $250,000.

EAST HARTFORD, Conn., April 12.—Forty-eight families were rendered homeless and damage estimated at about $250,000 was wrought by a fire which started shortly after midnight here and burned out about 15 buildings before it was brought under control three hours later. The fire started in the saw mill and lumber yard of Henry Cairns and spread from there to three big tenement blocks and several dwellings. The flames threatened at one time to sweep through a greater part of the centre and it required the united efforts of the East Hartford and the Hartford fire departments to subdue it.

The breaking down of the electric light wires and the flying of sparks and fire brands over a radius of nearly a quarter of a mile added to the spectacular side of the blaze. Occupants of the houses in the path of the fire made desperate attempts to get their household effects out before the fire reached them, and in some cases were successful. The greater part of the families made homeless camped out for the night in fields some distance from the fire scene, while others were taken in by neighbors. Today the homeless ones were cared for.

OFF ON SOUTHERN TRIP.

Harvard, Lacrosse and Soccer Teams to Meet Other Colleges.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 12.—Today was get-away day for the Harvard College base ball, Lacrosse and Soccer teams which start for their spring trip to meet colleges in other states. The base ball squad will remain away ten days, opening their Southern trip with a game at Baltimore Saturday against Johns Hopkins University. The Catholic University, Georgetown, Baltimore of the International League and Annapolis are other teams to be played before April 19, when Harvard will play Columbia at New York on the return trip. The Lacrosse team plays three games at Baltimore and the Soccer team meets Columbia in New York Saturday for the concluding game of the season. Outdoor track athletics also have their season opening today, with the annual handicap games on the card.

JAMESTOWN.

Mr. William H. Jones, steward of the Jamestown Club, has returned for the summer to fill his position for the twenty-third season. Mr. and Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Coates attended the Chatman-Layton wedding reception and had next day for luncheon one of the guests, Mrs. Edward Harris of Germantown, Pa., who left the same evening for her home.

A. O'D. Taylor has rented for Tunstall Smith his furnished cottage on Walcott avenue and Racquet road to Mrs. E. H. Watson of Norfolk, Va., for the summer season.

THE CHIRIQUI PEAK ERUPTION

Report Confirmed by Captain of Steamer Origen.

Thousands of Lives Believed to Have Been Lost in Disaster.

MOBILE, April 12.—Corroboration of the report of an eruption of Chiriqui peak, near Bocas del Toro, Panama, was brought to Mobile last night on Norwegian steamship Origen. Captain Wang and other officers of the vessel tell of steaming through thick, warm, brown water when passing through the Yucatan channel. They believed the phenomenon was caused by a submarine disturbance.

Thousands of lives are believed to have been lost, the officers said, but no true estimate of the damage to life and property had been made at the time the Origen left for Mobile, by way of the city of Bocas. Captain Wang said that he believed that a volcano under the sea had been discovered in Yucatan.

Thousands of persons have been killed and whole Indian villages swept away, by the eruption, according to Captain Olsvik of United Fruit steamer Fort Morgan. Captain Olsvik says the eruption occurred April 6, early in the morning, while the Fort Morgan was berthed near Bocas del Toro, and that he witnessed flames shooting from the peak. Reports of the large casualty list were brought from the immediate scene to Bocas del Toro by refugees, who escaped the onrushing lava. He says he watched the eruption April 5 until hep at to sea.

COMMENT OF PRESS IN IRELAND.

Home Rule Bill Considered Satisfactory by the Nationalist Papers.

DUBLIN, Ire., April 12.—The Nationalist papers of Ireland, on the whole, consider the government home rule bill as satisfactory, although some of them profess to regard it as not being final.

The Freeman's Journal describes the bill as the greatest, the boldest and the most generous of the three home rule bills, and says, "We should not be surprised to find it received with hearty welcome by the Irish party."

The Irish Times, Unionist, says, "The measure will prove so utterly unworkable as to offer no middle course between complete separation from Great Britain and a return to the status of the union."

The Irish Independent remarks, "It would probably be correct in describing the bill to say that it gives us three quarters of what we expected and probably not so large a share of what we demanded. The measure cannot be regarded as final."

The Cork Free Press says "The government scheme is not a solution of the Irish problem."

SAILS FOR HOME SATURDAY.

Secretary Knox and Party Visit Sugar Plantation Near Cabanas.

HAVANA, April 12.—Secretary Knox and his party made a motor car excursion this morning to the Mercedita sugar plantation near Cabanas, in the province of Pinar Del Rio. This evening a dinner is to be given at the United States legation in Mr. Knox's honor and this will be followed by a grand ball at the department of state. The Secretary of State starts on the return journey to the United States on board cruiser Washington, Saturday night.

Today's papers devote much space to the visit of the Secretary. All of them make a feature of a part of his speech, which is described as "another warning to Cuba." However, the interpretation of his remarks is made on party lines. The government supports say the Secretary warned all factions to be good and to unite in support of the government. The opposition papers, on the other hand, say that Mr. Knox's reference to those who make a business of the politics of the country was intended for those who sat nearest him at table. It was noticeable that while Mr. Knox's compliments to Cuba were applauded his advice was received silently.

LEVEE SITUATION GRAVE.

Communication With a Number of Arkansas Cities Cut Off.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 12.—Telephone communication was lost during the forenoon with Lunora and Osceola, Ark., and Marked Tree, Ark., and the last news heard from the first two named towns was that the levee situation was very grave. This announcement was made by the St. Francis levee board. The last report from Marked Tree said the water was rising steadily there at about an inch an hour.

Telegrams to United States Senator Clark of Arkansas were forwarded today by the St. Francis levee board, asking him to take up with the federal authorities the question of distributing corn and cottonseed for spring planting.

CEDAR TREES FOR "BLEAK HOUSE."

A big tree seen going down Thames street this afternoon was bound for Mr. Marsden J. Perry's estate "Bleak House." It is a cedar. The truck on which it was carried came from New Canaan, Conn., from the Stephen Hoyt Sons Company. There were two cars of cedars, but the one carried down this afternoon was the largest of them. Five or six carloads of trees are expected for the Perry place which so far has been devoid of trees. Its name, "Bleak House," is suggestive of its position, but there seems to be no good reason why a grove of cedars would not live even there and give shelter to other trees and plants.

ORGANIZATION OF DEMOCRATIC CITY COMMITTEE.

The Democratic city committee met Thursday evening and organized for the coming campaign by the election of the following officers:

Chairman—J. Frank Albro.
Secretary—J. A. Murphy, Jr.
Treasurer—Patrick J. Boyle.

The season for registration and preparation for the campaigns is approaching. There were indications that some things in the past have been forgotten, for the "Jerry Mahoney" Democrats, who were overlooked last fall when notices of meetings of the Democratic city committee were sent out were remembered this time.

NEW YORK, April 12, Wall Street:—The market opened with Amalgamated Copper at 81¾, American Smelting and Refining 86, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe 103¾, Baltimore & Ohio 107½, Brooklyn Rapid Transit 83¾, Canadian Pacific 252¾, Chesapeake & Ohio 80¾, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul 110¾, Colorado Fuel and Iron 31, Erie 39, Great Northern preferred, ex div., 133, Great Northern Ore Certificates 40¾, Interborough Metropolitan 20¾, Interborough Metropolitan preferred 50¾, Missouri Pacific 44¾, New York Central 115¾, Pennsylvania 125, Reading 165¾, Rock Island 30, Southern Pacific 113⅜, Southern Railway 30⅝, Union Pacific 173¾, United States Steel 70¾, Wabash preferred 21¾, Lehigh Valley 166.

10—A further irregular tendency was noted at the opening of today's stock market, with selling pressure in such active issues as United States Steel and Union Pacific. Various other active stocks declined fractionally, these being offset, however, by a new record price for American Can and a rise of 2 points in Canadian Pacific. Some strength was shown by Amalgamated Copper, New York Central and Erie.

11—Short selling provoked further recessions, some of which extended a full point. Lowest prices of the week were recorded by Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific and United States Steel. Coppers were firm at the outset, but later yielded with the balance of the list. International Harvester rose over 3 point on announcement that the company would accede to the government's dissolution terms. Before the end of the first hour the market lapsed into dullness, with a more pronounced downward tendency.

Noon—Politics and the outcome of the vote of the engineers, which may be known later in the day, were the weapons employed to depress the list. The heaviness of the first hour gave way to acute weakness in some cases before mid-day and other stocks established low prices for the week. Selling of Missouri Pacific which appeared to be of a liquidation character was associated with the increased heaviness of Colorado fuel. Hill issues felt the force of the move which continued to centre around Union Pacific and United States steel, the latter declining to 70, a loss of 1¼, while Union Pacific lost a point. Gains in Canadian Pacific, International Harvester and some of the specialties were largely lost, with an erratic move in American Can. Bonds were steady. Money on call firm at 3¾ per cent. Prime mercantile paper 4¼ to 4½ per cent. Exchanges $367,332,962; balances $12,760,607.

SOCIAL ENTERTAINMENTS.

Washington Commandery, St. Andrew's Society and the Ladies of the Maccabees.

An evening of whist and dancing was given Thursday by Washington Commandery, No. 4, Knights Templar, in the large hall of the Masonic Temple. The room was decorated with small Templar flags of black and white, each bearing the name of a commandery of the Knights. These were suspended from the ceiling, each marking the location of a table at which whist was played. There were 41 in all and the flags made a pretty decoration.

A large number participated in the whist, which lasted until 10:30. The players were grouped in two divisions, with prizes for each. In the first division the first prizes were awarded to Mrs. William H. Langley and Mrs. George G. Popple and the second prizes to Miss Alice Wood and Miss Kathleen Coggeshall. In the second division Mrs. West and Mr. George Hazard were given the first prizes and Mrs. William Carry and Mrs. George Lake the second.

After refreshments were served the floor was cleared for dancing, McClosky's orchestra furnishing a program of popular music.

A social was given in Builders and Merchants' hall Thursday evening by the St. Andrew's Society, which was well attended by members and friends. A musical program included a piano solo by Miss Jessie Gibbes, a vocal solo by Mr. Robert Monroe, and violin selections by Mr. William Martland. Mr. Melville Goddard accompanying. Mr. James George of Providence, formerly piper with the British army during the Boer war, gave a number of selections on the bagpipes. Refreshments were served, followed by dancing to the music of Howard's orchestra. The committee in charge consisted of James B. Urquhart, James Robinson William Gray, William Levs, Duncan McLean, John McLean, George Mackie and William Mackay.

In Eintracht hall Thursday the Ladies of the Maccabees gave a successful whist and dance. The prizes for the whist were awarded to Mrs. George Casseen, Mrs. Thomas Murray and Messrs. William McCormick and Benjamin Higgins. Music for the dance was furnished by Mrs. Madeline Dillon.

TRYING OUT THE PLAYERS.

Rogers Base Ball Team Has Good Practice Against Richmond Athletic Club.

The Rogers High School base ball candidates had another try-out Thursday afternoon. It was a practice game with the Richmond Athletic Club, and was played on the Cloyne House School diamond. Rogers came out on top, with a 16 to 3 score, and showed superiority in all points of the game. The Richmonds scored three runs in the first inning, and that was the end.

A number of the new players were tried out on the Rogers squad, and Weaver pitched an excellent game, allowing but five hits to Richmond, while Rogers batted Dillon and Rochefort for 12. Weaver also struck out 10, against three each by the other two pitchers. The bases on balls he gave numbered three, to eight by the Richmond pitchers.

A number of the regular Rogers players were absent, but the youngsters all did well, both at the bat and in the field. Wilks and Pinto halved behind the plate, and both did good work. There was a cold wind from the south, which interferred with throwing to second and not many throws were tried. It was a wonder that there were not more errors on both teams, as the wind would take the high batted ball fully 50 feet out of its regular course, making it especially hard to judge.

Martland and Eddy played first, Delangie and Dring second, and O'Sullivan and Dolliver third, while Brown and Kirwin divided in the field. The relative merits of the players, both old and new, could be seen, and it is probable that the team will be picked by the first of next week. The line-up follows:

MUSIC AND DANCING.

Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. L. Haskell entertained a large party at their home on West Narragansett avenue. The parlor was decorated with palms, flags and bunting. Vocal and instrumental music and recitations were rendered by Misses Card, Sheehan, Cassidy, Walsh, Sullivan, Davidson, Burke, Collins, Cullinane and Fallon and Messrs. O'Brien, Fitzgerald, Haskell, Cullinane, Parker, Nixon and Jones. There were also games and dancing. Fisher's orchestra furnishing the music, and Mr. Doherty, the prestidigitateur, was present. A buffet luncheon was served and a flashlight picture taken. Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Nixon assisted Mrs. Haskell in receiving and entertaining the guests.

THE CIRCUS VOTED ALL RIGHT.

Mixture of Fun-Provoking Incidents and Meritorious Feats of Skill.

Side Show, Animals, Pageant and Various Acts Entertain at the Y. M. C. A.

It seems to be the general opinion of those who went to the circus Thursday evening at the Young Men's Christian Association that it was all right and there was an audience numbering nearly 450. Manager Slocum had succeeded in developing a production which was a happy mixture of fun-provoking incidents and meritorious feats on the mat and bars, and all agreed that they received their money's worth. There was nothing commonplace about the acts, but it was a well balanced, bona fide program.

Every detail which could be thought of, to add to the completeness of the affair, was employed. There were ushers in white coats to direct people to their seats with Harry D. Sullivan at their head. Smoke Jim, Sidna and Mittens were the colored circus hands and worked efficiently under the orders of the "Boss," Sid Reynolds, the latter being especially active in seeing that people seated did not have their view obstructed by those standing.

Ringmaster Abner L. Slocum made a general announcement at the beginning, of the acts to follow, and saw that the different events were put on promptly, being assisted in keeping things moving smoothly by Assistant Ringmaster Henry Wheeler. The band was an essential factor of the circus and Leader George Brack received well deserved compliments for his work.

The wonders of the side show were presided over by Mr. Fred P. Webber, who expounded to an open-mouthed, awe-stricken audience for 20 minutes, the origin and uniqueness of his collection of subjects. Here were to be seen Bo Bo the wild man (Stanley A. Ward), Rajah Plushaut Homme (Earle H. Barlow), Prof. Fliniflamsan, the strong man (Ernest Brack), and Nellie the Bearded Lad, charmingly portrayed by Fritz Swanson.

A glimpse was also to be had of the wild animals, who were prowling about at large waiting for the big show to commence. The audience was somewhat timid and apprehensive at first, as was to be expected in the presence of these ferocious beasts but soon learned that there was little danger, the animals being subject absolutely to the eye and direction of their trainer, Mlle Marie.

The circus proper opened at 8 o'clock, with a grand procession around the floor. This moving pageant, comprising acrobats, clowns, gymnasts, freaks and others, passed in a somewhat orderly fashion before the amazed audience, headed by Drum Major William Dennis. It marched to the music of the Harmony Circus Band and formed an awe-inspiring spectacle.

Fourteen high school boys in red tights and gymnasium suits headed the program of acts. They represented the "Pyramids of Egypt Outclassed" and accomplished some feats in human architecture which would have done credit to a much more advanced troupe.

The Manly Art was demonstrated in a boxing bout between the Intaglia Brothers. Here was where the audience had a loud, long laugh. The bout was "pulled off" in a ring in the centre of the floor, with a full retinue of attendants, Barry as referee, Cornwall and Kelley as seconds and Wyllie as timer. The outcome is a general mix-up, in which the referee has the worst of it. A free-for-all fight follows, and then Policeman Durfee alights on the scene and wipes the floor up with whoever he lays his hands on.

The Czar's Imperial Dancers executed a difficult dance, attired in Turkish costumes. This number is doubtless deserving more praise than any other, from the standpoint of the time and patience which Physical Director Slocum gave to drill and perfect the participants in the different movements. The troupe consisted of Messrs. Slocum, Cunningham, Babcock, Kazardarian, Flagg and Goldsmith.

The "most marvellous production of midget performers extant" was announced next, introducing the Eureka Tumblers and Acrobats. It consisted of ground, hand and lofty tumbling by a group of little fellows, under the leadership of John Thur. Tiny Jack Wood does some clever balancing in the air and does it all in such a cool and precise fashion that the audience cannot help applaud.

It may be well to say something about the clowns, lest it be supposed that the audience is engrossed entirely with the feats of the acrobats. They are busy from the beginning of the program to the end, doing the little stunts assigned to them. Barry and Cornwall made a combination hard to beat, the latter scoring a hit with his inimitable facial expressions alone.

Mutt and Jeff have not been mentioned, but are very much in evidence all through the performance. They go through all the mannerisms and exploits accredited to these famous subjects of Bud Fisher's brain. Jeff had a dog which did smart little tricks all of which filled in well.

Display No. 7, introduces Bedros Cuanic and Lenky Brothers in a series of daring feats on the flying rings. The troupe was minus the Lenky Brothers, but executed part of the program with credit.

"The Fiery Foot is the title of display No. 8, Cornwall, the clown, has a mishap and is stretched in agony on the floor. Doctor Pill attends him, putting an immense bandage on his foot. A "liquid" is applied and by and by another meddlesome clown applies a match. Thereby is derived the title, "The Fiery Foot."

"That Wonderful Troupe" come out in No. 9 and perform on the horizontal bar, being made up of Bedros Ajootian, Dalton Ball, George Cunningham, Ray Chase and Homer Babcock.

The floor was next given to Mlle. Marie (Lloyd Robson) and his aggregation of trained animals. Jumbo, Bruno and Horace. Jumbo, the elephant, had some difficulty in keeping himself together; there was a tendency of the forepart covering to come off, but this was not a serious matter. Bruno, the bear, and Horace, the tiger, are beasts endowed with unusual talents. They select the prettiest girl in the audience and answer political questions, much to the amusement of all. Mlle. Marie is ably assisted in her work among the beasts by Master Clarence Dawson.

The Roman Chariot Race was an exciting gallop around the "arena." The drivers were just working their "steeds" into a galloping pace when a wheel came off, putting the chariot out of the race. William Wyllie, the other driver, on this account was an easy winner.

The Wild West Dancing Cowboys, led by P. H. Slocum, were well received, there being 12 or 14 of them attired in wide-brimmed hats and blouses, after the fashion of cowboys, and carrying toy pistols.

Karl Squires, an expert with the Indian clubs, gave an interesting exhibition of easy, graceful movements with the clubs.

Charles Johnson and Raymond Chase showed that they have not forgotten the lessons learned at the gymnasium in years past. This event ends with Johnson picking up Chase from a position flat on the floor, lifting him high over his head and walking off the floor with him in this manner.

The circus ended with "leaps and bounds" over the elephant by the troupe of inimitable clowns.

Ernest Brack, representing the strong man of the show, demonstrated what an easy matter it was for him to lift 500 pounds, and burst big chains as easily as if they were cotton strings.

Head Clown Barry and Dr. Farnum were in charge of the make-up department. H. Pierpont Friend was the doctor, who was forced to respond to many hurry-up calls.

DEATH OF MRS. JOHN MEIKLE.

Mrs. John Meikle died at her home on Morton avenue Thursday evening, in her seventy sixth year. She had been in poor health and a short time ago submitted to an operation, since which she had failed to rally, largely on account of her advanced years. Mrs. Meikle had been a resident of Newport many years and had a wide circle of friends. In addition to her husband she is survived by three sons—Andrew S., James M. and Hugh Meikle—and a daughter, Miss Jessie Meikle.

JAMESTOWN.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

The second social affair of the week, was held Thursday evening in the Gardner House hall by the King's Daughters. The first part of the evening was given to two short sketches, and a musical program, after which the hall was cleared and dancing to music by Peckham's orchestra was had. The attendance was large.

The final round in the last of the whist series for the winter at the Bayside was played Thursday evening. Team No. 2 won by enough margin to put it in first place, while No. 3, which was in the lead, dropped to last position. The score: Team No. 2 won 63, total 226; No. 1 won 62, total 214; No. 3 won 28, total 201.

Mrs. W. H. Watson and Miss M. Watson of Providence were on the island Thursday.

Miss H. Tripp, who has been guest of Miss Spicer, has returned to her home in Fall River.

Work on the new casino is nearly completed. The grounds are yet to be graded.

Mrs. Miller of Lincolnville, Maine, is guest of her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Watson, on Narragansett avenue.

NEWPORT GAS LIGHT CO

RIGHT UP TO THE MINUTE.

Front of New Building Representative of Modern City Business Architecture.

Cummings Block to Include Stores, Apartments and a Sample Room for Drummers.

The front which is to transform the old Gould building on Thames street into what will hereafter be known as the Cummings building is referred to as not only up-to-date but as strictly up to the minute, as representative of modern city business architecture. The plans call for a glass marquise projecting 3 feet over the sidewalk and extending the entire width of the building above the show windows. These windows are of plate glass with beveled waterproof joints at external angles, the glass resting on a copper ventilating sill, which is supported by a verde antique marble base. The windows are trimmed with mahogany, furnished with mirrors, parquetry floors and paneled ceilings.

The first floor or ground plan arrangement provides for two stores on the rear [illegible] floor has been arranged, and a large sample room provided with entrance from the rear only. This room will be furnished with every facility for the display of sample goods by visiting salesmen.

Both stores and sample room are to be finished with metal ceilings. Entrance to the stores is through tiled vestibules, the floors being 6-inch red Welsh tile. The second floor is supported by heavy steel girders, and if required the two stores can be arranged as one by the removal of the division partition, making one store without obstructions.

At the rear under the sample room, an ample boiler room is provided, and toilet facilities for the stores.

Entrance to the second floor from the street is through a vestibule in front, and also from a passage in the rear. This floor is arranged with a large shop at the front, with offices and living apartment in the rear.

The third floor is arranged as an auxiliary to the apartment below, and is provided with numerous bedrooms and baths.

Access to the roof is provided by stairs at the rear, and the roof is arranged with space for drying clothes.

The design and architecture of the front are typical of the present style in vogue in modern store fronts. The brick piers, arches and other face brickwork are to be of golden yellow

WEDDING BELLS.

Marriage of Miss Foley and Mr. Littlefield, and of Miss Flaherty and Mr. Cooney.

The marriage of Miss Mary Foley to Mr. Everett Littlefield took place Wednesday at St. Joseph's rectory, in the presence of a few friends. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Littlefield drove to their new home on Third street, where a wedding supper was served, with music and dancing until midnight. Among the guests were Misses Margaret Devins, Katherine Killian, Nora Pendergast and Rose Carthy; Mr. and Mrs. P. Sullivan and Messrs. Martin Grimes, John Dwyer, David Fitzpatrick and Samuel Bolton. The bride was the recipient of many handsome presents.

The marriage of Mr. William A. Cooney of this city to Miss Mary E. Flaherty of South Boston took place recently in St. Augustin's Church in that city, Rev. Father Gilbride, the pastor, officiating. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Agnes Flaherty, and the groom by his nephew, Mr. James Palmer. Mr. and Mrs. Cooney will reside in this city.

FOR HER HUSBAND'S DEATH.

Mrs. Herbert Kingman Brings Suit for $40,000 Against the Railroad Company.

A suit for $40,000 damages has been brought by Mrs. Annie T. Kingman, widow of Herbert Kingman, against the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company. Mr. Kingman was killed while at work for the company at the Portsmouth station January 1, performing the duties of brakeman. Mrs. Kingman claims that the company's employes did not exercise proper care and that her husband's death was due to carelessness on their part. The suit, which is brought by Gardner, Pirce & Thornley of Providence in Mrs. Kingman's behalf, was filed in the office of the clerk of the superior court for Newport county Thursday and the case is returnable at the session of the court in June.
